Digiplexis 'Flamingo'

Height: 3 feet

Spread: 18 inches

Spacing: 16 inches

Sunlight: ☉ ●

Hardiness Zone: (annual)

Description:

This amazing, sterile hybrid is bushy, fast growing; produces large, rose pink blossoms with pale butter yellow interiors, on strong, upright stems; attractive green lance-shaped leaves; a biennial that's happiest in part shade with adequate moisture

Ornamental Features

Flamingo Tender Foxglove features bold spikes of rose tubular flowers with pink overtones and buttery yellow throats rising above the foliage from late spring to mid fall. The flowers are excellent for cutting. Its glossy pointy leaves remain dark green in colour throughout the season. The brick red stems can be quite attractive.

Landscape Attributes

Flamingo Tender Foxglove is an herbaceous annual with a rigidly upright and towering form. Its medium texture blends into the garden, but can always be balanced by a couple of finer or coarser plants for an effective composition.

This is a relatively low maintenance plant, and is best cleaned up in early spring before it resumes active growth for the season. It is a good choice for attracting bees and butterflies to your yard, but is not particularly attractive to deer who tend to leave it alone in favor of tastier treats. It has no significant negative characteristics.

Flamingo Tender Foxglove is recommended for the following landscape applications;

- Mass Planting
- Rock/Alpine Gardens
- General Garden Use
- Container Planting

Planting & Growing

Flamingo Tender Foxglove will grow to be about 30 inches tall at maturity, with a spread of 18 inches. When grown in masses or used as a bedding plant, individual plants should be spaced approximately 16 inches apart. It tends to be leggy, with a typical clearance of 1 foot from the ground, and should be underplanted with lower-growing perennials. Although it's not a true annual, this fast-growing plant can be expected to behave as an annual in our climate if left outdoors over the winter, usually needing replacement the following year. As such, gardeners should take into consideration that it will perform differently than it would in its native habitat.

This plant does best in full sun to partial shade. It does best in average to evenly moist conditions, but will not tolerate standing water. It is not particular as to soil type or pH. It is highly tolerant of urban pollution and will even thrive in inner city environments. This particular variety is an interspecific hybrid, and parts of it are known to be toxic to humans and animals, so care should be exercised in planting it around children and pets.

Flamingo Tender Foxglove is a fine choice for the garden, but it is also a good selection for planting in outdoor pots and containers. With its upright habit of growth, it is best suited for use as a 'thriller' in the 'spiller-thriller-filler' container combination; plant it near the center of the pot, surrounded by smaller plants and those that spill over the edges. It is even sizeable enough that it can be grown alone in a suitable container. Note that when growing plants in outdoor containers and baskets, they may require more frequent waterings than they would in the yard or garden.
